

Homelessness

Homelessness is one of the worst situations here in the United States. First of all, I thought we were the land of opportunity, but I was wrong. We really aren't. People think that we are rich and that we have a lot of money. Those people are wrong because we have people living on the streets. A lot of these people are children, which makes it even worse. These people live in the worst conditions. They are never safe or healthy, and it's horrible to see them live like that. These people rely on what they can but most only survive for a while.

The worst thing about homelessness is that we see kids on the streets without their parents trying to survive. No person, especially kids, should live under horrible conditions. Not all homeless people are selfish. Most of them lost their homes. Some don't even beg for money. They just sit there and hope for the best. It's awful to see these people on the streets with no food and no home. No one should live a life like this. All we see are millions of people on the streets begging for money and food. They don't deserve a life like what they have. If this is the land of opportunity then why are people living on the streets?

I think it's horrible seeing them starve and dehydrate themselves. I think this is serious. There are more than 7,000 people living on the streets of Houston. A lot of these people are just children. It's awful seeing them like that on the streets. I thought we were the land of opportunity. I guess not. I think we should start caring for those people on the streets. They have no one to go to. They live their lives all alone on the streets begging for money.

Sometimes people ignore them. People should actually give them homes if they have the generosity. It's good to be generous to the homeless even though some might be plain rude to you. We should just give free food to the homeless because they can't afford their own food. Some might not like living in shelters, but they should be moved there because they shouldn't be living on the streets. Families should be kept together in some shelters.

If the homeless person is just an innocent family member, he/she shouldn't be taken to jail because it wasn't his/her fault in the first place. I think we should collect all the homeless people and make sure that they are well fed and have some place to live. They should also be given a job. Even if they earn little money at least they will be able to buy food. We need to show them how to make a living again. It's not like they were born on the streets. Maybe they lost their home and job.

The good thing to do is gather all the homeless people up and help them start their life again. At least we should help them get a new start. It's hard for me to see these people on the streets because it makes me wonder, "Why doesn't anyone help them out?" Hopefully if we take a stand and take action there could be a difference. Seeing families on the streets is hard enough. No one should deserve a life on the streets. We need to take action and help those people in need. They have no homes and no food. We should donate unwanted things that would be useful for them. It's better to help them out than leave them out on the streets with nowhere else to go.

It's time to help out these people. Just like you want to be treated then you should treat others the same way. No one should be left out on the streets with nothing to do. Help them start their life over. Help them create a better life. Don't leave these people stranded without a home. Help them live a better life. No one deserves to live their life on the streets. Take action, and help the homeless live their life again.
