

Homelessness

Homelessness is a bad thing that is happening in the world. We must stop it, and help people who are in need. Homelessness can happen if a person is unable to pay for a house, or pay rent for a place to live. When he/she loses the house, he/she can end up in the streets, and this is what they call homelessness.

It is a result of the problem we are currently having with our economy. With this bad economy, people are losing their jobs. We must solve our economic problem in order to create jobs for people so they can stop having many problems. This needs to happen fast because a lot of people come from other countries to have a better life in the United States, and they just end up in the streets. The reason they are unable to pay the rent is because they do not have a job which gives them money. As the economy gets worse, more and more people are suffering from this. We must find a way to help them.

Another common mistake people make is that not all people who are homeless are bad. Most of them are trying to make a living out of the few remaining things they have. Not all homeless people are evil, do drugs, or steal. They are only trying to make a living. Do you know that some homeless people in the United States and other countries are children? The economy has gotten so bad that even children in some countries have to live in the streets. Some of them don't even get to go to school. This is why we must be an advocate, or be a person who takes action to stop this problem.
