

Homelessness

What do you feel when you see homeless people in the street? When you pass by, they are depressed, lonely and hungry. Their clothing is ripped and dirty. Some of these people went to war to serve our country. The U.S. Government ignores these people living in the streets without help, no medication, nothing - just like a piece of trash that's not needed anymore.

It's really sad to see people like this in the streets of Houston and all over the world . If I could, I would help these people with clothing and food, especially with health problems to help them get better and have hope that they are going to keep going in life with no worries. I want to help them get a job or do something so they can survive.
