

Homelessness

I feel very bad about homeless people because they had the opportunity to go to school, and learn all of the things to prepare for the future, but now they are in the streets. I really respect all of them. I would really love for those people that are under the freeways to have a good job and a better life.

If I ever win the lottery, I would give those people money so that they can study and buy new clothes. I feel so bad whenever I am at the store buying clothes or things for me because I think about them in the streets wearing dirty clothes and begging for money to buy food.

Kids should pay attention to their teachers so that they will not be in the same situation as a homeless person.
