

Homelessness

Homelessness is when a person doesn't have a place to sleep or a job. Homelessness is a sad word that means people live in the streets. People that lose their jobs, and don't have anywhere to live go to the streets. We need to make a program for the homeless people that live in the streets. We have to get together, and be nice to them. We have to help them get off the streets, and make their life again.

I feel very sad because Houston is a good city with a lot of opportunities for jobs, but we have people living under the freeways. When I see these people without a bed, I feel very sad. I want to give them my bed. Sometimes when I see homeless people begging for food or money, it makes me want to cry.
