

Homelessness

We should help the homeless because these people suffer from hunger and bad weather. They do not have shelter. They don't have a kitchen to make their food. They don't have a bedroom to sleep in. Everybody needs to sleep well. They don't have a bathroom to clean themselves, and use it for their needs. The kids in the streets need a good home to be safe, a place where they get enough sleep. They need a good education to be successful in life.

We should go all around town with food, drinks, good clothes, and shoes, so we can donate them to the homeless people that are in need of all these things. There are many reasons for people to become homeless. Either they had trouble with their health, or economic issues. I think that the government should help get a job and shelter for all of the homeless people so they can feel better, and not be suffering.
