

What causes kids to bring guns to school, and what can you do to help with gun violence in school? There are many different things you could do to help with gun violence. In this brochure you will find what is gun violence, what causes it, and what you could do to help prevent gun violence in schools.

Stop the gun violence!

202- 456-1111

1600 Pennsylvania Ave.

Washington, D.C.

Gun Violence
In Schools

What is gun violence?

Many people see gun violence as a negative thing, especially in schools. Gun violence is actually a firearm used to threaten or harm other people. Many people use it in self-defense, law enforcement, or hunting. Some people see guns as a deadly weapon. Gun violence is usually in most crime scenes used to defend themselves, such as school shootings. In school gun violence, many kids don't care what the effects are when they make the wrong choice.

What causes gun violence?

There are many reasons for gun violence in schools. Kids may have problems at home. Often they may feel less powerful than adults. Kids also see gun violence in video games or through TV, which causes them to think it is ok. The main reason that causes gun violence in schools is being a victim of bullying. When kids are bullied, they sometimes feel powerless against their classmates and feel they should take over.

How do we prevent gun violence?

How do we stop gun violence in school? Parents let their kids go on the Internet and not care about what they are looking at. Parents should be more aware of what their kids are doing and should talk to them more. Kids shouldn't be afraid to talk their parents. Their parents should be the ones that they go to first when they are in trouble. Parents or adults could also help their kids with problems they are having. When the parents show that they actually care, then the kids might make an effort to stop what they are doing.

