

What can you do?

This can happen to anyone and everyone, when they least expect it.

That's why people should be very careful on how they choose to spend their money.

The way that people can stop homelessness anywhere is by calling CRY (child relief and you). This is one of the programs to help the homeless.

Homelessness is the condition and social category of people who lack housing, because they cannot afford, or are otherwise unable to maintain, a regular, safe, and adequate shelter.

The people that are homeless are mainly caused by not having money or not having a job to keep you and your family alive. The reason that poverty might happen is because some people have money but don't spend it so well. There are people that are living on the streets that have no home and can't afford one either. There are also people living on the streets that might've done drugs, or alcohol, and would do anything they can to be able to get money.

HOMELESSNESS

Housing is a basic human need, yet the statistics of United Nations Commission on Human Rights in 2005 notes that, an estimated 100 million people -one-quarter of the world's population- live without shelter or in unhealthy and unacceptable conditions. Over 100 million people around the world have no shelter whatsoever. The health consequences of this level of homelessness are profound. The Action Aid in 2003 had found out that there were 78 million homeless people in India alone. CRY (Child Relief and You) in 2006 estimated that there are 11 million homeless children live on the street. The statistics are grim. What is worse is that very little is known of what it means to be part of such horrific numbers.

The reason that poverty might happen is because some people have money but don't spend it so well. There are people that are living on the streets that have no home and can't afford one either. There are also people living on the streets that might've done drugs, or alcohol, and would do anything they can to be able to get money.

As you see here it is very hard to look at this, and it is also a very sad thing, but some people that live on the street do not want to change. But the two people here actually do want to change, maybe not just for them, but maybe also for their families too. Homelessness is a very serious thing it can happen to anyone and anywhere and as you can see, it is very hard...
